create your own art capsule for the tate|in|space-craft and explore how the art and everyday objects adapt under the impact of zero gravity and the infinity beyond the thin walls of your module.

relocate some of the most controversial art objects into your everyday life and be part of the universal avantgarde community of tate|in|space.

rediscover these (and other everyday) objects in tate collections around Britain (and in your own home).

pass it on and have fun.
